

Feast of Christ the King

Jesus is a King. His Kingdom is no ordinary Kingdom for it is the goal and destination of the whole of humanity, because it is under Christ's rule that we will all ultimately come. This great feast in honor of Christ the King marks the very end of the Liturgical Year. It is most appropriate therefore that we look to the very last thing of all, the Second Coming of Christ. We look to the End Times to what we Catholics call the Four Last Things; that is Death, Judgment, Heaven and Hell. There could be no better fruit for meditation for a Christian in this last week of the liturgical year. Spending a little time thinking about these Four Last Things will help us realize just how lucky we are and how important it is for us to stay on track, as it were, with our Christian faith and strive all the harder to love God and do good in the world. During this past year in our scripture readings we have considered all the most important aspects of the life of Christ in the Gospel of St. Mark.

Today we come to the finale when Christ quietly and with great self-assurance, standing alone before Pilate, accepts for Himself the extraordinary title King of Kings. These words presage His triumph on the Cross and the great victory over sin and death. Although we know that the Kingdom of God will not be made present in all its fullness until the Last Day, we clearly understand that, by accepting this title, Jesus Christ changed the course of human history and began the inauguration of the Kingdom. This is the task of the Christians of today, to help the Kingdom of God to find a place in the hearts of all of mankind. It is a sacred duty, an honorable task, a privileged undertaking. And so, on this great Feast Day, the last in our Christian Calendar, our hearts are filled with hope and optimism. Christ yesterday and today, the Beginning and the End, Alpha and Omega. All time belongs to Him and all the ages. To Him be glory and power through every age forever. Amen
